Dear [REDACTED]

Our ref: TTRO/ 12078

Unfortunately on this occasion the Secretary of State is unable to extend the current TTRO as this relates to a road and has been in place for 18 months.

The request does not appear to comply with section 15, paragraph 3 of the Act:

(3)Where an order subject to the time-limit of eighteen months in subsection (1) above (in this subsection referred to as “the temporary order”) has not ceased to be in force and the Secretary of State is satisfied that—

(a)an order which the authority that made the temporary order proposes to make under any other provision of this Act has the sole effect of reproducing the provisions of the temporary order and continuing them in force; and

(b)in consequence of the procedure required to be followed in connection with the making of the proposed order that authority would be unable to make it so that it would come into operation before the temporary order ceases to be in force, the Secretary of State may, subject to subsection (4) below, from time to time direct that the temporary order shall continue in force for a further period not exceeding six months from the date on which it would otherwise cease to be in force.

In order to comply with this the Council would need to show that it proposes to make an order under another provision of the Act to reproduce the provisions of the temporary order, i.e. a permanent order. An extension to the existing order could then be granted on the basis that the new proposed order would not come into force before the expiry of the temporary order.

These are the only circumstances under which the Secretary of State has the power to extend the order.

The Secretary of State is not refusing to make the Order, it is just that he does not have the power to do so. The Council can look to making a new Order to cover the time that is needed

Kind regards
